

Answers on antibiotics

Tassal and Huon Aquaculture are under fire from The Tasmanian Alliance for Marine Protection (TAMP) for what they say was an "antibiotic dump" in the waters surrounding Bruny Island.

Peter George, chair of TAMP, says a member of TAMP was burrowing through bureaucratic records, when the alleged event was discovered. Local groups like Killora Community Association said they were shocked to find that Tassal unloaded over 600 kilograms of antibiotics in the D'Entrecasteaux Channel within ten days. "This is an indictment of the industry's practices and of a government regulator that allows huge quantities of antibiotics to be poured into salmon pens and then spread through nearby waters regardless of the impact on human health and marine life," Mr George said. "The use of antibiotic dumps on diseased salmon is dangerous and unnecessary and must be banned immediately." A Department of Natural Resources and Environment spokesperson said that "Under the Tasmanian legislation, the Tasmanian salmon industry must only use antibiotics in line with the Agricultural and Veterinary Chemicals (Control of Use) Act 1995". "Importantly, antibiotics can only be prescribed by veterinarians," they said. "Antibiotics are a last resort for bacterial disease control and fish welfare." CEO of Tasmanian Salmonid Growers Association (TSGA) Sue Grau said that "Like all farmers, our veterinarians are tasked to look after the health and welfare of our stock, abiding by highly regulated processes that happen in all farming industries".

Amendments made to local code of conduct

The Local Government Amendment (Code of Conduct) Bill 2022 was introduced last week to strengthen and modernise the Local Government Code of Conduct Framework and provide a better process for dispute resolutions in councils. The Bill makes a number of important changes and there has been extensive consultation on this Bill with the Local Government Association of Tasmania (LGAT), the broader sector and the public. It progresses reforms across several key areas, including:

- Improved consistency and clarity across councils through a single, standard Code of Conduct for all councils;

- Using local dispute resolution processes wherever possible, focusing initial assessments on more serious allegations and stipulating strict timeframes for processing code of conduct complaints; and
- Increasing confidence in the assessment and investigation process, minimising the risk of conflicts of interest, and improving confidentiality of the Code of Conduct process.

Kingborough Mayor Cr Paula Wriedt welcomed the Local Government Amendment (Code of Conduct) Bill 2022. "My initial reading of the Clause Notes indicate the Minister has listened to the feedback from the Local Government sector," Cr Wriedt said. "I look forward to the Bill being implemented."

Fish farms self-reported on occurrence

CEO of Tasmanian Salmonid Growers Association (TSGA) Sue Grau continued "There are many controls over the veterinary solutions that are used in Australia and our industry prescribes within the regulatory framework and within Australian Veterinary Association and international guidelines."

"Throughout the chicken, beef, pork, dairy and salmon industries this is a normal and highly regulated process that is applied from time-to-time following expert, scientific advice."

As per regulatory standards, Tassal and Huon Aquaculture both reported the occurrence to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

A spokesperson for the EPA said that "the Environment Protection Authority was advised by Huon Aquaculture Company (East of Yellow Bluff farm) and Tassal (The Sheppards farm) in January 2022 of their intention to treat Vibrio anguillarum infections in farmed fish".

"The EPA requires companies, through environmental licence conditions, to conduct antibiotic residue monitoring for antibiotic treatment events."

Huon Aquaculture, when reached out for a comment, said that "Given all sediment samples (pen, transect and control) returned antibiotic concentrations below the limit of reporting in both Round 1 and 2 of the residue monitoring survey it's unclear why additional monitoring would be required".

They also urged all concerned parties to view their online fact sheets regarding their stance on use of antibiotics as treatments.

The TSGA will also be supplying a follow-up article in next week's issue.

Tassal was contacted for comment.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

End forest logging

Dear Editor,

Mr. Anthony Albanese, it would be an absolute win for the environment if you were to end all native forest logging in Australia.

Bob Brown was arrested in the Eastern Tiers last week, attempting to stop the illegal logging of Swift Parrot habitat by Forestry Tasmania.

Swift Parrots are critically endangered, yet their native forest habitat continues to be logged in Tasmania.

You could solve the extinction crisis by ending all native forest logging now, Prime Minister.

The animals and plants are imploring you.

The dignity they deserve

Dear Editor,

The three sheaths of flowers that are wilting at the base of the Margate War Memorial gates are a poignant reminder of the recent Memorial Day.

It is a pity that the Memorial is in such a state of disrepair with the broken wrought iron gates, the paintwork needing renewing and the stonework disfigured with algae.

War memorials should be maintained with the dignity they deserve.

Who is responsible for this one?

Leigh Higgins,

Edna puts the fun in fundraiser

The entire gang celebrates after a momentous fundraiser with smiles all round. (PS)

The Helping Hands annual Edna Pennicott Christmas Fundraiser was held on Sunday, November 13 at the Senior Citizens Club in Redwood Road.

The day was incredibly successful with over 200 people attending, all were treated to a wonderful day with a large variety of food served, fantastic raffles, lucky door prizes and trade tables.

MC Ben Harrison skilfully led the auctions with many wonderful items on offer.

Edna said it was great to see so many familiar faces, but also so many new ones who all helped put the 'fun' in fundraiser.

Prizes on offer were donated kindly from local suppliers like JJ Bikes. (PS)

The money will be used to help those in the community who are not so fortunate over Christmas including children, the elderly and providing lunches at Mara House, Annie Kennie House, and Colville House.

All of this would not have been possible without the wonderful donors, volunteers, and helpers.

Master auctioneer Ben Harrison captivated audiences with his virtuoso oration. (PS)

Blackspots in the headlights

The Federal Government is seeking local feedback on new guidelines that will drive investment to address poor mobile coverage blackspots in Verona Sands and Alonnah.

Feedback from industry and the community will help inform the Grant Opportunity Guidelines for the $40 million Improving Mobile Coverage Round (IMCR) of the Mobile Black Spot Program (MBSP).

This initiative, announced in the 2022-23 Federal Budget, will help deliver on the Federal Government's 2022 Election commitment to improve mobile connectivity across regional Australia.

The IMCR will provide grant funding to Mobile Network Operators and Infrastructure Providers to address identified mobile coverage and quality of service issues in 54 target locations.

Member for Franklin Julie Collins said she is pleased to see the Albanese Government getting on with the job of improving local mobile coverage in Verona Sands and Alonnah.

"Local feedback on this program will make sure our community's views are heard and we get the best possible outcome for families and small businesses."

"I strongly encourage locals to participate in the public consultation process and look forward to working closely with local residents to deliver the reliable mobile coverage they rightly deserve".

The IMCR complements the Federal Government's $2.2 billion investment in regional telecommunications over the next five years through the Better Connectivity Plan for Regional and Rural Australia.

The Plan commits a further $1.1 billion to regional communication, including $656 million in new measures which will deliver on pre-election commitments.

Other measures include: $200 million for additional rounds of the Regional Connectivity Program to fund a broad range of place-based communications solutions; $30 million to expand on-farm connectivity and drive productivity through machine-to-machine networks; $20 million to complete an independent audit of mobile coverage to identify black spots, and; $6 million to extend the Regional Tech Hub which provides expert advice to regional customers on how to connect and stay connected.

Local residents interested in having their say on the draft guidelines should do so by 5pm,

November 28 2022 by visiting www.infrastructure.gov.au/have-your-say.

Bikes are back in action!

Riding a bike in Kingston is getting easier with improvements to the Whitewater Creek path but not everyone has the confidence to do it, which is where the Bicycle Network Back on your Bike program comes in.

"Back on your Bike offers 90-minute sessions to refresh people's riding skills in a small, supportive group," Bicycle Network spokesperson Alison Hetherington said.

"It can be a bit daunting to start riding again after years off the bike and these sessions acknowledge this by going slowing and concentrating on the areas where you need the most work.

"The sessions run through basics like braking, changing gears, riding slowly, signalling and turning to give you more confidence to get rolling again.

"If there's time, we can also cover basic maintenance like checking brakes, tyres and chains.

"With the widening of the Whitewater Creek path and bike parking at the new Park and Rides, it's a perfect time to start riding again," Ms Hetherington said.

Bicycle Network is teaming up with Kingborough Council to offer free Back on your Bike sessions at: Kingborough Community Hub, December 1, 10am and 12pm.

Kingston Beach, December 2, 10am and 12pm.

Huntingfield Park and Ride, December 3, 10am and 12pm.

Register a place in one of the free sessions via the website www.bicyclenetwork.com.au/back-on-your-bike.

Men's Shed encourages blokes to speak up

The Channel Men's Shed helped celebrate International Men's Day on November 19 by urging men to speak up and talk to a mate.

President of the Men's Shed Peter Norris talked of the complexities that many men face through stigmas and societal expectations today and encouraged men to speak up.

"Many men struggle with the transition from a working life to retirement, often missing the camaraderie of their former workplace and feel a lack or purpose," Peter said.

"There are many also that find themselves alone, often living in isolation and need to connect with their community but aren't sure how.

"There are men that have moved to a new community that need to make some new mates.

"Becoming a member of a Men's Shed can offer you this and so much more.

"Men's Sheds offer an opportunity to learn new skills from each other and make new friends.

"They may discuss personal issues or just have a chat.

"Previous generations of men spent a portion of their leisure time at the 'local' to meet with friends and communicate with others.

"Today membership of a Men's Sheds is a much more acceptable and more healthy option."

In a speech to State Parliament, Mike Gaffney MLC Member for Mersey echoed concerns that Peter and other representatives from the Men's Shed have.

"We know loneliness and isolation are significant contributors to illness and poor health outcomes, with health systems and services struggling to cope with increasing demand in our community.

"With the huge and growing shortage of GPs and three month-long waiting lists for psychologists and counsellors, our mates have never been more important for support in tough times.

"Currently, the biggest challenge in Tasmania is acknowledging that there are areas where men and boys experience poorer outcomes.

"Men account for two in three potentially avoidable deaths, and four out of five deaths from heart disease in people under the age of 65.

"On this International Men's Day, I again acknowledge the work of the various funded and unfunded voluntary grassroots and community-based organisations around Tasmania."

Channel Men's Shed welcomes enquiries from men interested in joining and can be contacted on 6267 1696.

Crawleighwood Garden

Slow down for our devils

The Tasmanian Liberal Government is encouraging road users to slow down and take extra care in coming months as juvenile Tasmanian devils begin dispersing away from their dens.

November to March is known as the roadkill season as naïve devils become independent from their mothers.

It is also the time of year when many Tasmanians and visitors travel across the island for the holiday season.

The devil's black colouration can make them hard to see against dark road surfaces, especially between dusk and dawn.

Slowing down from 100km/h to 80km/h can reduce the number of animals killed on our roads by 50 per cent.

This is especially important in identified devil roadkill hotspot areas, including the Channel Highway, especially between Huonville and Cygnet, and Nicholls Rivulet Road.

A brave new world awaits

On November 3 students in years 3 and 4 at Blackmans Bay Primary created a living wax museum for their project about bringing explorers back to life.

On display were notable explorers like Amelia Earhart, Ferdinand Magellan, Vasco de Gama, Neil Armstrong, and Marco Polo.

Presenting their knowledge about explorers to family, friends and fellow students was rewarding for all students.

In the morning they set up tables in the hall and got their displays ready.

Some students dressed up as explorers and sat very still until somebody pressed the red button. Upon pressing the button, students would jump alive and begin reading out reports, showing the explorers' journeys on maps and the jigsaws made by students.

Visitors from the community gave positive feedback on all their hard work, and a wonderful learning experience was had by all.

Students of Blackmans Bay Primary celebrated famous explorers and their contribution to our understanding of Earth and its many secrets. (PS)

Brave and intrepid students had the courage to tread in the shoes of explorers from all over the world. (PS)

Display booths held exotic information for any visitor daring enough to explore their pages. (PS)

Keeping us In the Loop

Kingston Primary students were educated and entertained by the interactive recycling takeover at Channel Court in Kingston. (PS)

Miss Barker's Grade 3/4 class from Kingston Primary School completed a unit of work on Sustainability and Forces as a part of their HASS and Science this year.

They visited 'In the Loop' which was held at Channel Court recently.

Students moved between five different stations and learned all about reducing, reusing, and recycling waste, playing lots of fun games along the way.

They even saw an amazing Rube Goldberg Machine created from recycled materials.

They sent a big thank you to Channel Court Kingston for the exciting opportunity and to Woolworths for their kind donations.

Students used interactive displays and played games all in the name of recycling. (PS)

Demonstrators showed students how the plastic repurposing machine recycled everyday items. (PS)

The totally repurposed and radical wave feature had the students in awe! (PS)

Architectural style & vision

Set on more than an acre of land, this stunning architecturally designed home is the epitome of style and thoughtful design with wonderful vistas in every direction.

Just minutes from the heart of Ranelagh and under a 4km drive to the centre of Huonville the position is perfect for those looking for an idyllic, peaceful property with all the conveniences still in easy proximity. Beautifully positioned to admire the surrounding valley views and capture the welcome sunlight through the perfectly placed double-glazed windows, the contemporary home is a combination of cement sheet weatherboards and bagged brick. The entrance leads into the open-plan living zone of the home complete with a sunken living room, spacious dining area and chic kitchen. The kitchen boasts ample custom cabinetry, stone bench tops and Smeg stainless steel appliances. There is a generous laundry/mud room cleverly hidden behind fold doors conveniently positioned near the entrance with Blackbutt hybrid flooring and a reverse cycle heat pump for year-round comfort. There are three queen size bedrooms all with built-in robes off the hallway that has a clever brick wall that provides a high thermal mass to regulate the home's temperature.

The family bathroom features a soaker bathtub, walk-in shower and vanity with a separate powder room adjacent. The master suite has a beautifully fitted out and very spacious walk-through dressing room that leads into the ensuite. There are Merbau decks accessed from the double sliders in the living area that will enable seamless outdoor entertaining as well as a long veranda at the entrance perfectly positioned to enjoy varying times and seasons. The extensive use of large sandstone blocks to create a level, grassed area at the entrance will be appreciated for smaller children or furry friends. The land has much scope for the gardening enthusiasts but equally could also be low maintenance. There is a double garage with a carport and plenty of space to create further storage. This home is very impressive, built to a high-quality spec with a seven-star energy efficiency rating. The neutral colours, impeccable design and layout would appeal to buyers wanting a near new home without the stress and escalating expense of building. With local delights like the Heartz Mountains, Home Hill Winery, Tahune Airwalk, Willy Smith Apple Sheds and the Huon River all close by this property enables a magnificently adventurous lifestyle.

A karaoke Christmas?

Choral Productions Tasmania, incorporating the Kingston based Southern Voices and Lincoln Singers, with The Southern Lights Big Band, is pleased to present a concert of popular music with a difference – you are encouraged to join in!

The concert, at 2pm on Sunday, December 4 at the Kingston Community Hall, 33 Redwood Rd, will include music from stage productions and movies, as well as collections from the Seekers and Queen.

Of course, at this time of the year there will be some Christmas music (with a special visitor for children) and an ending with the Hallelujah Chorus.

Choir Director, Madeleine Dyer, is keen to finish the year with a mix of choral and participation pieces.

“In this concert we want to involve our guests in the full music experience,” said Madeline.

“How often do you go to concerts where well-loved pieces are sung for you while your feet gently tap away, and you try to resist the urge to join in the singing?”

“Now you can!”

Hence the title for the concert: A Karaoke Christmas.

Tickets ($30/$25) are available at trybooking.com/cdvjr or at the door.

Celebrate Christmas with Choral Productions. (P5)

Hearing Aids Shopping Guide

NICK MODROVICH
INDEPENDENT AUDIOLOGIST

Hearing aids buying guide – say what?!

Hearing aids are normally not on the top of anyone's Christmas shopping list.

“Pre- and post- Christmas is surprisingly the busiest time at our hearing clinic,” said Nick Modrovich, the professional Audiologist at Ability Hearing and Balance.

“Family gatherings are times when many people realise they are missing vital conversations in competing background chatter.

“Our clients don't want to repeat the same experience of missing conversations like they did last year.

“They are ready to get something done before Christmas.

“Others notice difficulties over the festive season and come to see about their hearing in the new year.”

With advances in hearing aid technology such as rechargeability and Bluetooth compatibility with mobile phones, the consumer is now flooded with choice.

You can think about buying hearing aids in a similar manner to buying a laptop.

There are many brands, and within each brand there are spec levels to suit what you need the device to do.

All brands have a range of technology, ranging from your basic hearing aids to more advanced, and premium hearing aids.

It depends on how varied your listening environments are.

If you are someone who goes out to lots of different listening situations often, like restaurants, classes, social engagements – you are probably going to need a hearing aid with more processing power.

An entry-level hearing aid may be enough for someone who doesn't go out socially very often and just needs something to help with the TV and listening to conversations day to day.

For November, Ability Hearing and Balance is offering free tech upgrades on standard model Starkey Evolv AI RIC hearing aids.

Pay for a lower spec model and get a free upgrade to the next technology level (see their advert below).

Available for both battery or rechargeable options, Bluetooth compatible with both android and apple phones.

Seamaster fishing supplies – your local fishing expert

Ben Greene and Naomi Wisby at Seamaster Margate are your ultimate fishing gurus. (PS)

Conveniently located on Waterworth Drive off Gemalla Road, Seamaster Margate is home to duo Ben Greene and Naomi Wisby.

Passionate recreational fishers who come from commercial fishing family backgrounds, they understand the commercial fishing industry.

Naomi Wisby grew up on the East Coast at St. Helens and has resided in Howden for many years now.

She knows her local fishing well but is most enthusiastic about what she can lure up from the depths of the continental shelf.

Swordfish are her favourite game fish.

When she's not on the water, it's likely she is below.

Naomi is also a diving enthusiast and is experienced in catching crabs and scallops.

Sales Manager of Margate and Goodwood Ben Greene enjoys land-based and jetty fishing to unwind.

Ben has lived and worked in Southern Tasmania for over twenty years and lives and breathes fishing.

His favourite target species is bream so when he isn't on the road for Seamaster or at the store, Ben can be found dropping a line off a jetty.

When it comes to armature or professional fishing needs and applications, Ben and Naomi are happy to share their vast experience and knowledge in both fields.

Pop in when next passing and check out the wide range of fishing gear on offer or say hello next time you see one of them out in the van.

"We are regularly out on the road delivering in the South, anywhere from Kingston to Dover, and beyond and everywhere in between," they said.

If you can't come to them – they can come to you!
