Policy changes for 60-day dispensing

Last week the Australian Government confirmed a 60-day supply for prescription medication, rather than the current 30-day supply, will be made available from September 1.

Once this policy is implemented, doctors will be able to make a clinical decision about whether 30-day or 60-day prescribing is appropriate for the individual circumstances of their patients.

It is anticipated at least 6 million Australians will halve their medicine costs and need fewer visits to the GP and pharmacist, saving patients more than $1.6 billion over the next four years.

"Every year nearly a million Australians are forced to delay or go without a medicine that their doctor has told them is necessary for their health," said Australian Minister for Health and Aged Care Mark Butler.

"This cheaper medicines policy is safe, good for Australians' hip pockets and most importantly, good for their health."

"Australian pharmacies already do much more than just dispense medicine and the Government is supporting our trusted pharmacists to play an even bigger role in the healthcare of Australians."

Some pharmacists are concerned this policy may have unintended consequences.

Owner of Priceline Pharmacy Kingston in Channel Court Matthew Pilkington considered some of the risks this policy could pose.

"Pharmacists across the country may be forced to charge for things that have previously been free, including health advice," said Mr Pilkington.

"60-day dispensing will be changing the role of the community pharmacist as we know it."

"I am worried this may result in a fee for service in pharmacies and further widen the gap between those who can and those who cannot afford it, it would be terrible."

Mr Pilkington said aged care facilities and residents in the Kingborough and Huon region will likely face substantially higher costs for medication packaging and services, or possibly find pharmacies are unable to service these facilities.

The Australian Government has stated they are investing $350 million to community pharmacy outreach into aged care facilities.

Waiting for shelter

Kingborough's Roz Thurn reached out to Minister for Infrastructure and Transport Michael Ferguson asking whether a bus shelter for Margate was planned in the near future.

Minister Ferguson confirmed a bus shelter will be constructed as part of the Hobart City Deal, although he was unable to advise when these works would be delivered.

The Kingborough Chronicle reached out to Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt.

"I'm looking forward to the Department of State Growth rolling out their DDA compliant bus shelter program," said Cr Wriedt.

"Residents have been waiting a long time for this."

It is anticipated works will commence later this year.

Employer survey

Employers are encouraged to have their say to help shape the Southern Employment and Training Network's Jobs Hub.

A workforce planning study is currently underway that will guide the Jobs Hub to effectively address workforce related issues in the region.

An employer survey collecting insights and feedback from businesses about their current circumstances and goals for the future forms part of this study.

The survey is now open and all employers in the Huon Valley and Kingborough are encouraged to participate by visiting www.setn.org.au

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Kingborough Chronicle welcomes your opinion and encourages correspondents to have their say. Mail your letter to PO Box 306, Kingston 7051 or email editorial@kchronicle.com.au. Your full name, street address and telephone number should be included. Readers are encouraged to keep their letters brief and to the point. Letters of 250 (maximum 500) words is preferred. All letters are to be submitted Thursday noon before publication. It is the newspaper's position that if you wish to pass judgement on community issues and/or individuals that your name and suburb is published. Letters with pen names will not be considered.

Disgusting and irritating

Dear Editor,
People are letting their dogs defecate on footpaths, on main roads and not picking their poop up.
Could they please pick their poop up?
Can they have a scooper and a pair of disposable gloves?

That would be a good thing.
They should put their dog poo bags in their own rubbish bins rather than someone else's.

It's disgusting.
Also, people are doing burnouts and hooning at night-time at the roundabout near the BP service station and the Cat Centre Op Shop, knocking pebbles off and leaving marks.

Have police come down in unmarked cars to catch these culprits.
It's irritatingly annoying, can't get any sleep.
Speeding down Margate, that's awful as well.
If the police could catch them out too.
Nothing's been done about the traffic congestion in Margate either.

Kingston hairdresser to join world conference

Stylist at Kingston's Cyber Hair Emily Gordon has been selected to present her hairdressing skills at the Intercoiffure World Conference in Saint-Tropez, France in July 2023.

The Intercoiffure World Conference brings together hairdressers, salon owners and beauty professionals from around the world to exchange ideas, exhibit innovative techniques and set hair and beauty trends in the industry.

With years of experience as a stylist at Cyber Hair, Emily Gordon has become known for her skilful techniques, artistic flair, and unwavering commitment to customer satisfaction.

Her passion for hairdressing and relentless pursuit of excellence have earned her a reputation as one of the top stylists in Kingston.

"We are incredibly proud of Emily's achievements and her selection as a presenter at the Intercoiffure World Conference," said co-owner of Cyber Hair Roseanne Mallett.

"Her talent and dedication to her craft have always been evident, and this recognition is well-deserved.

"We have no doubt that Emily will represent Cyber Hair and Australia with distinction at the conference and inspire her peers with her skills and creativity."

Emily Gordon said "I am truly honoured to be chosen to present at the Intercoiffure World Conference".

"It is a tremendous privilege to represent Cyber Hair and Australia on the global stage and share my passion for hairdressing with fellow professionals from around the world.

"I am eager to learn from industry leaders, gain new insights, and bring back fresh inspirations to Cyber Hair and our clients in Kingston, Tasmania."

Jacquie Petrusma appointed

Jacquie Petrusma has been appointed by Our Watch as its first Tasmanian as Director.

Our Watch is an independent not-for-profit organisation that works to prevent violence against women and their children in Australia.

"Ms Petrusma is a tireless leader and champion for equality, we are pleased to continue working with her to end violence against women," said Our Watch Chair Moo Baulch.

"With her wealth of experience across government, not-for-profit and corporate businesses, her expertise will be greatly valued by the Board and the organisation."

Minister for Women and Minister for Prevention of Family Violence Jo Palmer also congratulated Ms Petrusma on her appointment.

"As a victim-survivor of family and sexual violence, Ms Petrusma is a committed and passionate advocate for equality and ending violence against women and their children," Minister Palmer said.

"I am certain that Our Watch and the Board will benefit greatly from her appointment.

"This membership led to the nation-leading establishment of an Our Watch Senior Adviser in Tasmania, which is a continuing action under our third Action Plan, Survivors at the Centre.

"Survivors at the Centre commits $100 million over the next five years with our vision for Tasmanians to be safe, equal and respected, and that our homes, families and communities are free from all forms of family and sexual violence."

Commonwealth societies for Kingborough

The Kingborough community has access to a number of different Commonwealth groups with a range of social and cultural events programmes offered to members based on their group's specific interests.

Most Commonwealth groups have been established for many years, some are branches of international organisations, others are local groups of interested members with a Commonwealth focus.

Commonwealth societies in Tasmania are connected through an organisation called the 'Combined Commonwealth Societies of Tasmania' which comprises the chairmen and presidents of each Commonwealth group.

Combined Commonwealth Societies of Tasmania chairman Stephen Jones said each group's membership is ageing and they are hoping to find new members.

"By joining a Commonwealth society, Kingborough residents have ready access to many and varied events offered by each of the Commonwealth societies," Stephen said.

"These social and cultural events are diverse and reflect each Commonwealth society's unique cultural heritage and offer members and potential members a wide-ranging array of opportunities to socialise, make new friends and be entertained throughout the year."

New Snug Village facilities opened

A new 14 bed wing together with a day centre was officially opened at Snug Village by the Hon Julie Collins MP and Mark Hochman Chair of Christian Homes Tasmania (CHT).

"The $5.4m development adds to the substantial footprint CHT has at its Snug site which includes the existing residential care facility and independent living units," CHT Chair Mark Hochman said at the opening.

"A funding contribution of $3.4m by the federal government made the development possible with the balance coming from CHT funds.

"The project was undertaken by local builder Maveric Builders.

"Established 50 years ago, CHT has sought to faithfully care and provide for the aged sector of our community based on Christian values.

"Snug as a potential site was first pursued in 1995 with an initial opening twenty years ago with five residents.

"Since that time, we have been blessed by the support CHT has received from government and the community which has seen the Snug complex grow to a 76 bed facility today providing quality services and care for our aged community members.

"CHT was honoured to have our local federal member Hon Julie Collins officiate at the opening."

Among those present at the opening were Kingborough Deputy Mayor Clare Glade-Wright and Members for Franklin Dean Young, Dean Winter and Rosalie Woodruff.

CHT operates another residential aged care facility, Hawthorn Village, in Blackmans Bay and numerous independent living unit sites across the Kingborough municipality and Roches Beach on the Eastern Shore.

A new day centre was officially opened at Snug Village. (PS)

A new 14 bed 'Hope' wing was also opened. (PS)

Christian Homes Tasmania Chair Mark Hochman said they were honoured to have Hon Julie Collins officiate at the opening. (PS)

Raise a cup for a cancer-free future

Around 10 Tasmanians are diagnosed with cancer every day and despite millions of dollars in research funding-almost $20 million last year alone-that figure is expected to rise to 15 by the year 2040.

The goal of Cancer Council Tasmania (CCT) and its affiliated bodies in other states is a cancer-free future, and that's where a cup of tea and a chat at a social gathering can help.

For years the South Channel Residents and Ratepayers Association has hosted a Biggest Morning Tea event raising an estimated $1000 each time - money desperately needed in the fight against cancer.

The next morning tea will be held at 10am on Saturday, May 13 at Middleton Hall where CCT CEO Penny Egan will outline the work undertaken by the organisation.

CCT is a charity working to minimise the incidence and impact of cancer on Tasmanians through advocacy, raising awareness of cancer prevention and offering support and information for those affected.

But, as Penny Egan will note in her address, this wide-ranging programme could not be achieved without the generosity of Tasmanians at events like The Biggest Morning Tea and a team of volunteers.

One of the key components of CCT's work is running a regular series of support groups covering different cancers and these have proved invaluable particularly for those people, including a rising number from the Channel, who have been newly diagnosed and are looking for advice and support from those further along in their treatment.

New detection cameras

Click, Store, Go is the latest campaign from the Tasmanian Government and the Road Safety Advisory Council (RSAC).

RSAC Chair Scott Tilyard said Click, Store, Go is a reminder to Tasmanian motorists to always click on your seatbelt, store your phone and you're good to go.

"Using mobile phones means drivers have their eyes off the road, their hands off the steering wheel, and their minds off the road and the surrounding situation," said Mr Tilyard.

"Evidence shows distraction caused by mobile phones can impair performance in a number of ways, notably braking reaction time, but also reaction to traffic signals, ability to keep in the correct lane, shorter following distances, and an overall reduction in awareness of what is happening around you.

"We want drivers to reduce their distractions when they're driving and if you don't feel like you have the willpower to stop looking at your phone, you should turn it off and put it away.

"Unlike distraction, incorrectly wearing a seatbelt is not necessarily the cause of crashes, but it does increase the severity of the injury.

"Although it's hard to believe there are some people who still choose not to wear a seatbelt, this simple action can reduce the risk of being killed in a crash by up to 50 per cent.

"So please, always wear your seatbelt correctly and make sure your passengers do too," Mr Tilyard said.

New detection cameras that detect people not wearing a seatbelt correctly or illegally using a mobile phone have recently commenced on-road testing.

"These new cameras will be mobile and operate all around Tasmania, both day and night," said Minister for Infrastructure and Transport Michael Ferguson.

"Once on-road testing is completed, drivers detected not wearing a seatbelt or illegally using a mobile phone will receive a fine of $362 and three demerit points.

"Automated speed detection cameras have been in force in Tasmania since September last year, already nabbing 18,437 speedsters.

"Now, we are ramping up this technology to make our roads safer."

Anthea Wallhead will be the next speaker at the Browns River History Group talk on May 8 talking about igloos in Antarctica. (PS)

Great news for the country that won't cost a cent

An open letter to Treasurer Jim Chalmers regarding the Budget

Dear Dr Chalmers,

There's a crisis in our country you can fix in your first budget, at no extra cost.

With the stroke of a pen you could help secure the future of critical regional news services, using money already allocated in the budget.

All you need to do is allocate a fairer percentage of the federal government's advertising budget to local and regional news services, rather than spending almost all of it with corporate capital city media and foreign-owned digital platforms (which don't produce any content or employ any journalists).

This can be achieved by simply adopting the Victorian Govt policy that mandates a weekly full page government advertisement in every regional and community paper.

Local and regional newspapers connect more than 80% of the country, but they get almost 0% of the government advertising spend.

In an era where false news spreads faster on social media than the truth does, trusted local news services reach more regional Australians than any other medium.

And unlike other media, every government dollar spent with a local newspaper is also an investment in regional journalism jobs.

This shouldn't be controversial.

A recent parliamentary inquiry recommended that a minimum of 20% of government print advertising should be placed with regional news services. A recent study conducted by Deakin University recommended the same thing. In fact, the Minister for Communications, Michelle Rowland, has been advocating for more regional newspaper advertising for many years.

We know there may be bigger budget issues, but this small policy change would be a simple and fair solution to a growing problem for regional Australia.

A policy that ensures weekly federal government advertising is placed in regional newspapers would be great news for the country.

And it won't cost you a cent.

Yours sincerely,

Modern, sunny and move-in ready

When looking for easy living and family harmony, look no further.
Presented for the first time to market is 21 Kingsgate Circle, a modern 2019 home with a focal point for convenience, sunshine and easy-care living.
Entry to the property is either through the secure modern key system, or by the internal access double garage. Each bedroom utilises built-in wardrobes with the master featuring an ensuite and walk-in wardrobe.
The heart of this home is the light-filled, open-plan kitchen, living and dining area, which provides the perfect space for entertaining guests or spending quality time with family.
The fully equipped kitchen comes complete with modern appliances, ample storage and a convenient breakfast bar, making meal preparation and entertaining a breeze.
Indoor/outdoor flow is effortless with a sliding door that opens up to a private deck with a flat and sunny backyard, perfect for hosting barbecues or enjoying a morning coffee.

The home is filled with an abundance of natural light, providing a real, homely feel while highlighting the size of this beautiful home.
Additional features include solar panels and double glazing-everything you would come to expect from a modern home.
The area is perfect for a young, growing family with the ever-popular Saint Aloysius campus just a short walk away, or any stage of life due to the home's easy-care approach and stress-free one level living.
Backing onto the Peter Murrell Reserve which holds a variety of sandy terrain trails, the Reserve is the perfect place to enjoy a tranquil stroll, take the dog for a walk or cruise around on a bike.
Horse riding is also popular, with designated trails set aside for a relaxing ride, all within quick distance of the home.
The location is ideal, within walking distance to public transport, schools and more growth planned for the area, adding to the appeal on offer in a booming suburb, so act quick.

Taste new flavours this Mother's Day

Carnation Kitchen invites you to learn authentic and realistic recipes that you can easily replicate in your own kitchen.

You will be taught by Kate, our career cook of over 20 years, and Courtney, who has experienced incredible food and wine from all over the world throughout her travel career.

Kate and Courtney decided to create a space (Carnation Kitchen) where you can come together to meet new people, taste new flavours and cuisines, and pick up a new skill and recipe.

The style of classes they currently offer include Japanese, Indonesian, Greek, New Orleans, French and Charcuterie Creation.

They also showcase complimentary aromatic Tasmanian wines to highlight the different spices.

Throughout your three-hour class in Kingston talk travel, culture, and share stories over paired wines.

You then get to dine on the cuisine you have helped prepare!

Book in at carnationkitchen.com.au

Kate and Courtney have created Carnation Kitchen as a space to meet new people, taste new flavours and cuisines and pick up new skills and recipes. (PS)

HEATING FEATURE

Keep warm this winter

Service Pro offers expert maintenance and repairs of wood heaters and chimneys through southern Tasmania as well as a range of heaters suited to the Australian environment for new installations. (PS)

Rapid heating and sleek designs

The new, sleek and modern Jindara Franklin, Townsend and Gawler wood heaters are sure to become design icons that provide all the benefits of radiant style wood heating.

Perfect for homes with poor insulation or high ceilings, radiant heaters emit heat directly through the outer surface of the firebox, rapidly warming your space.

AF Gason Pty Ltd, the parent company of Jindara

Woodheating, is a family-owned company spanning three generations.

The manufacturing plant is located on a 3.2-hectare site at Ararat in western Victoria, and employs in excess of 100 people.

To see the newest range of Jindara Woodheaters, visit your local wood heating specialist at Heffernan's Heating at 266 Argyle Street, Hobart.

Visit your local wood heating specialists at Heffernan's Heating, located at 266 Argyle Street, Hobart to see the great selection of heating options for your home. Their range includes gas flame fires, electric flame effect heaters and the popular slow combustion wood heaters. Pictured is the Jindara radiant style wood heater. (PS)

16-year-old Saint Virgil's College student and member of North West Bay Golf Club Eli Monaghan recently came runner up at the Men's Southern Open held at New Norfolk and Claremont Golf Clubs on Saturday, April 22 and Sunday, April 23. (PS)

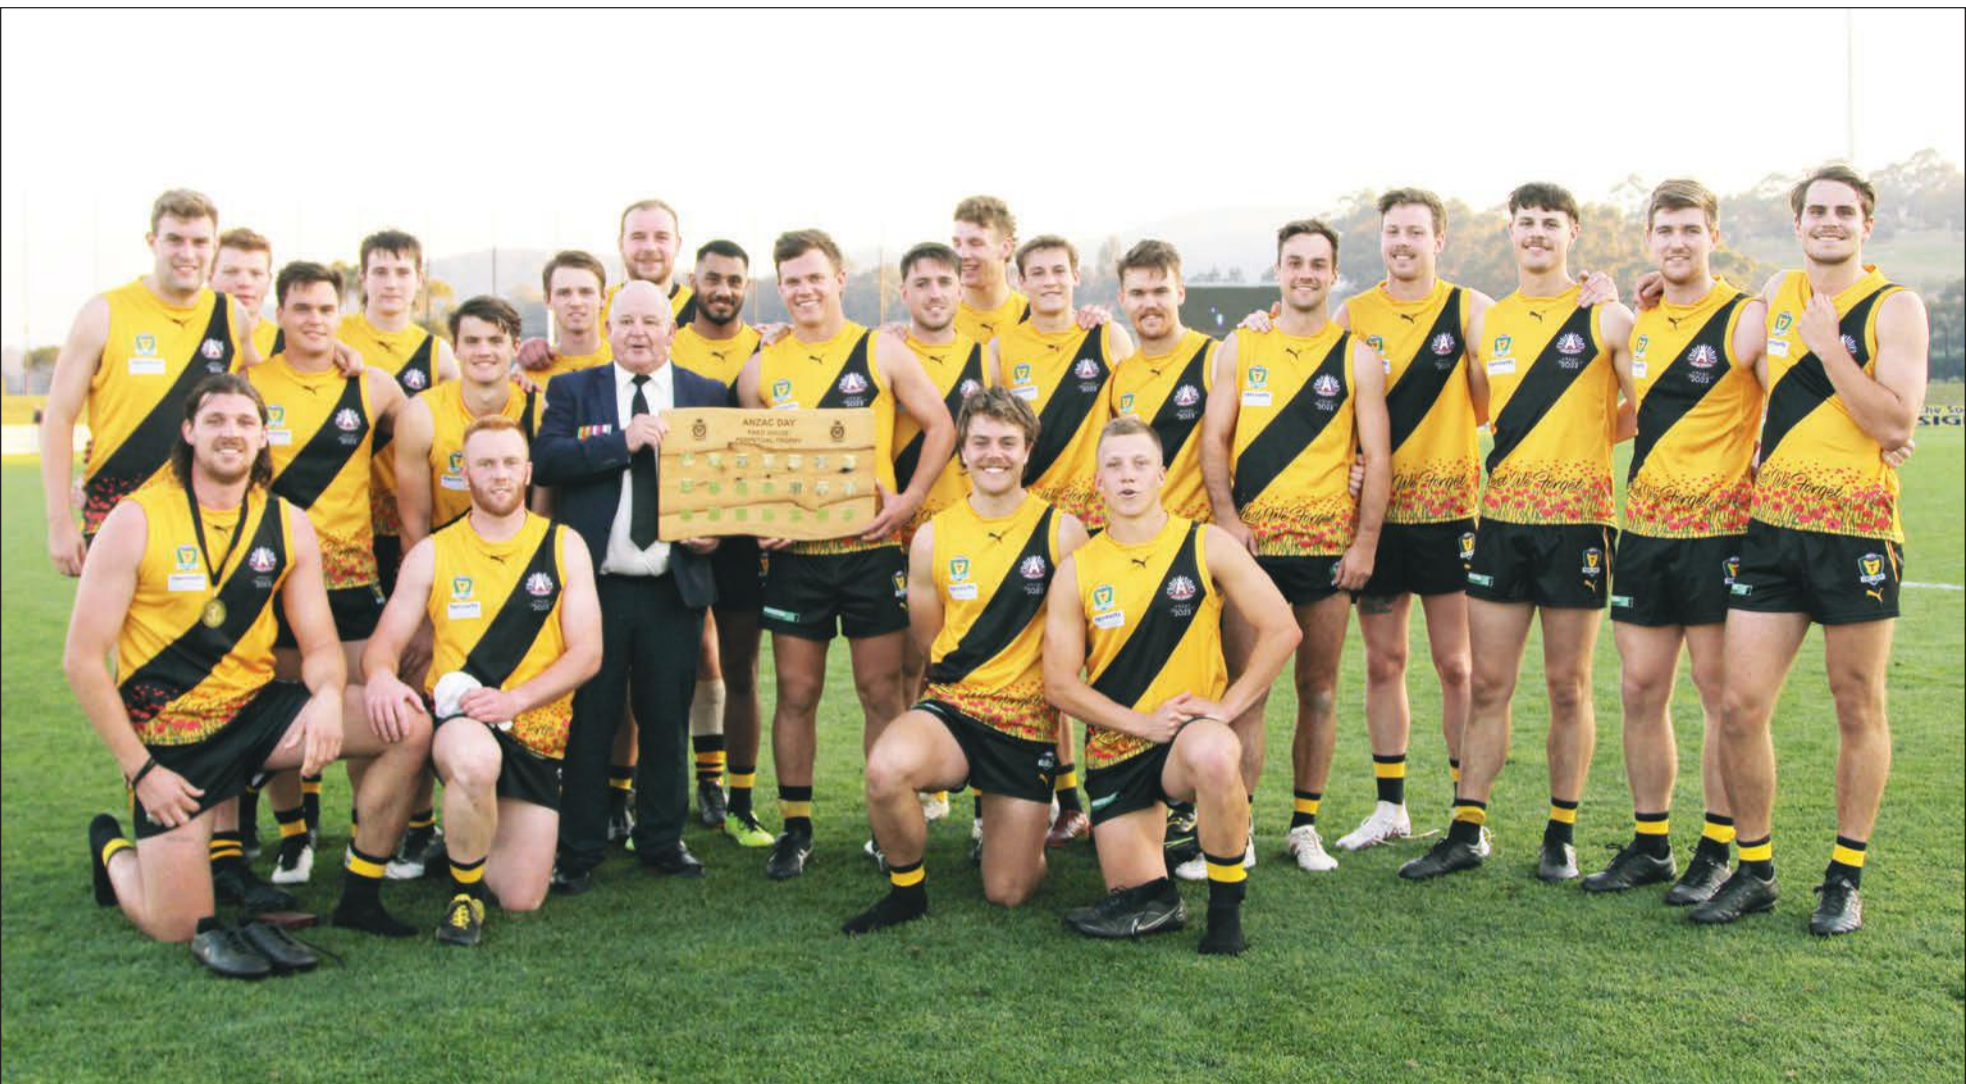

Kingston Beach Golf Club's Matthew Glover was the winner by three strokes with an overall score of 136. Both Monaghan and Glover are members of the Golf Southern Tasmania team contesting the Thyne Trophy coming up, with Glover being the captain. (PS)

On ANZAC Day at Twin Ovals, Kingborough Tigers played for the annual Fred House Perpetual Trophy against Glenorchy Magpies. Jack Tomkinson was awarded the Best Player Medal. (PS Carolyn Whitehouse)

The Kingborough Tigers and Glenorchy Magpies lined up for the ode and the Last Post before the game. More results on page 24 (PS Carolyn Whitehouse)

From page 23 the Kingborough Tigers won the Fred House Perpetual Trophy against Glenorchy Magpies. Although the final score was dramatic with Tigers 20.14.134 to Pies 2.3.15, it must be remembered that the Tigers were last season's grand finalists while Glenorchy struggled to field a TSL Seniors' team this season.
