

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt and Kingston Police Inspector Colin Riley encourage the community to report all crimes, no matter how small, to the police. (PS)

Council teaming up with police

Kingborough Council and Kingston Police have teamed up to encourage the community to report all crimes, no matter how small, to the Tasmanian Police.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said several community members had shared their stories of crimes being committed, such as car break-ins and vandalism in Kingborough.

"Of all the incidents being retold to me, none had been reported to the police, either because nothing was stolen or because the victim believed that the crimes were too small," Cr Wriedt said.

"I am now encouraging our community along with our new Kingston Police Inspector Colin Riley to report any crimes to the police, no matter how small.

"Without accurate records of thefts, vandalism and antisocial behaviour Tasmania Police can't accurately assign resources to address any concerns."

Inspector Colin Riley from Kingston Police said from a policing perspective, Kingborough is one of the safest communities.

"Police cannot be everywhere all the time, and we need the community to help us by reporting incidents," Inspector Riley said.

"Please don't be nervous or concerned about reporting matters to police, we want to hear from you - your information can assist us in keeping our community safe.

"Non-urgent matters can be reported to the Police Assistance Line on 131 444, where they will be triaged for urgency and attended to."

Cr Wriedt said Inspector Riley attends the Council's Community Safety in an advisory capacity.

"It is terrific to have Inspector Riley on this committee as he provides valuable insight and advice on how Council and community can address safety issues particular to Kingborough," she said.

Kingborough's Safety Committee meet up every two months to discuss safety issues in the community.

Funding progresses Lightwood Park upgrades

The federal government is making good on their election commitment to deliver just over $3 million to upgrading the Kingborough Lions facilities at Lightwood Park.

Member for Franklin the Hon Julie Collins approached Kingborough Lions United Football Club (KLUF) last year with a commitment to match the state government's $3 million.

A funding agreement is now in place with KLUF.

"With the Matildas inspiring a next generation of football stars, I am proud to be part of a government that is providing the facilities Tasmanians need to realise their sporting dreams," said Minister Collins.

It forms part of a $6,574,716 project, which is a multi-stage development of the Kingborough Lions Football facilities and the Kingborough Council ground at Lightwood Park.

This funding helps to secure the future of football in Tasmania which is one of the largest participation sports in the state, with around 38,000 registered players and growing.

The project is being funded under the Investing in Our Communities Program.

"This program is about delivering community priorities that assist communities to build on their strengths and improve liveability," said Minister for Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Local Government Catherine King.

"And that's exactly what the upgrade to Kingborough Lions facilities at Lightwood Park is about."

When the funding commitment was announced last year, there were hopes it could be used to establish Lightwood Park as a base camp for the 2023 FIFA Women's World Cup.

Whilst Lightwood Park made it to the final stages of the selection process, it was ultimately decided against using it as a base camp as there were no games held in Tasmania.

"The World Cup was the catalyst, but it's all about the legacy," president of KLUF Brian Downes said.

The funding will provide for future generations of club members.

Brian said the club was very grateful to the state and federal governments, and to Ministers Julie Collins and Nic Street for their involvement in funding upgrades to the facilities.

Thinking about wheelie bin dynamics

Dear Editor,

As an addition to Keith Anderson's (August 8) letter to the editor regarding wheelie bins (rubbish bins), while all ideas are worth considering, a few years back in the 90s this problem of bins being blown around caught my attention. Firstly, a gust of wind threw two bins into my lane while driving, causing quite a problem obviously, and another time, a fairly low gust blew a bin onto one of my new cars, denting it, in the early 2000s.

This caused me to really think about the design of the bins (which seem to have not changed in 30 or so years, if not more).

Here is my take on some design ideas to minimise wind issues.

The bin could be designed as a cylinder, with a sudden diameter change about half-way up (like a staggered cup, skyscrapers use this idea to 'trick/diffuse' wind dynamics), while also designing into the mould of the bin those stipple/small wing type protrusions you sometimes see on the rear of the roof of performance cars, and also smaller types on wing mirrors, which also trick/diffuse wind.

I worked in computer science and did a lot of programming/computer modelling, and also got my pilot's licence back in my early 20s, so aerodynamics and computer modelling were a hobby of mine, and based on some modelling I feel that these changes could possibly lessen the wind issue on bins somewhere between 40 per cent to 60 per cent while the bin is standing, and possibly even more-so once the bin has fallen over (and I feel the issue of wind and an already fallen bin is possibly the bigger issue, so these design changes possibly influence stopping that problem a fair amount).

Of course, this is modelled by me as an individual, and I obviously realise a team of designers would be able to confirm or not if these changes would be worthwhile.

I believe the changes would help a lot. I also understand that these design changes would not 100 per cent fix the issue; any gains are worthwhile, especially if they have a major impact.

While I am not 100 per cent sure, making changes to the bins' shape as I describe should not add cost to making the newly designed bins, replacing them as older ones become unusable.

At least there is discussion on the issue, but I also want to be clear, the current wheelie bin/pick up system should be respected, and never taken for granted, as it really is so important to society, and is a very good system.

New logo for Spring Farm Village

Tipalea Partners has unveiled a new logo for Spring Farm Village designed by local Huntingfield resident, Laura Philpot.

A Facebook competition was held to decide on the logo and Laura's winning design received more than 1000 votes from followers of the Spring Farm Village Facebook page.

Laura requested that if her logo was selected Tipalea Partners would donate to local women's shelter Jireh House, which they agreed to.

"Social responsibility is something we take to heart in all communities that we operate in," CEO of Tipalea Partners Scott Spanton said.

"We recently started working with Beacon Foundation through our Glebe Hill Village shopping centre.

"The work that Beacon provides is super impressive and we want to continue working with them across our Tasmanian projects.

"Jireh House and Beacon Foundation will be our charities of choice for Spring Farm Village, and we intend to support these initiatives throughout its construction and beyond."

The winning Spring Farm Village logo design pays homage to the nearby landmark of kunanyi/ Mount Wellington.

Laura said it was a natural choice to incorporate the mountain into her design given it stands 'protectively' over Kingston and Spring Farm Village.

She chose a navy-blue colour to match the exact hue of the mountain when viewed from afar.

"The mountain looks different depending on where you stand and which angle you're looking from," Laura explained.

"I wanted to capture the exact shape and colour of the mountain, as you see it from the site of the new shopping centre."

A Kingborough resident her whole life, Laura has lived in Huntingfield for the last three years with her three daughters.

"We're delighted to have a new logo for Spring Farm Village that holds significance to the local community," said Scott Spanton.

"Laura's logo speaks to the residents of the Kingborough region, celebrating its natural beauty with a message of inclusivity."

KINGSTON BEACH

Tree removal

Kingborough Council is planning to remove the white gum in front of Kingston Beach toilets over Tuesday, August 15 and Wednesday, August 16.

This tree is unfortunately infected with an untreatable pathogenic fungus (Armillaria sp.) and its decline has recently accelerated.

"We appreciate that many members of the local community value this tree, which was nominated for the Significant Tree Register a number of years ago," a Kingborough Council Facebook post read.

Council plans to replace the tree with a kurrajong tree instead, which is a species known to be resistant to Armillaria.

Bake it blue for medical research

Kingston Neighbourhood House (KNH) celebrated Jeans for Genes Day on Friday, August 4 with the Bake it Blue fundraising event to support the Children's Medical Research Institute.

Community members, volunteers and staff raised funds by baking cupcakes and blue treats for people to enjoy.

The event raised almost $500 for the Children's Medical Research Institute and funds raised will contribute to finding treatments and cures that will save lives.

Around 5 per cent of children face a birth defect or genetic disease, like cancer, cystic fibrosis, and life-threatening metabolic disorders.

That is approximately 12 children born every minute worldwide.

Lantern Centre opens

Kingston's newest community centre officially opens its doors this week.

The Lantern Centre on Denison Street will open with a bang on Saturday, August 19 with a huge, family fun afternoon.

There will be activities for the whole family with laser skirmish, giant games, face painting, food stalls and live music all on offer, plus more.

This free community event will be followed by two weeks of events and activities.

Most activities are free and everything from a bush dance to a presentation on a changing climate is represented.

Based at the landmark Kingston Christian Reformed Church, the Lantern Centre was built thanks to the generous contributions of church members and a grant from the Tasmanian Government.

The centre builds on more than six decades of service to the community.

Once up and running, the centre will have programs for children, young people, seniors, migrants, and others.

Coffee fans will also be delighted to hear the popular Salamanca café, Parklane Espresso, will be opening their first shop outside of Hobart in the centre.

"The original building was built in 1986 and in need of an update," said Senior Pastor Graham Sayer.

"We've been told that our building is one of community significance due to its design, but really that is exactly the outcome we desire for this newly renovated centre."

The new centre was designed by Hobart architects 1+2 who mixed elements of old and new, recycling bricks and timber from the original building for the interior.

The centre includes a new kids' playground, meeting rooms, facilities and office spaces.

"We want the Lantern Centre to be a place of significance in the Kingborough community, because in it you can find hope, community and a fresh start in Jesus Christ," said Pastor Sayer.

For more information on events being held visit www.kingstoncrc.org.au/Events/LanternCentreLaunch

Recession and your retirement savings

There is no doubt that the current economic market cycle is creating uncertainty when it comes to planning for retirement.

In the current environment it is important that your financial plan is robust enough to ensure economic conditions don't get in the way of your retirement goals.

After 12 interest rate rises since May 2022 it has been widely stated that the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) have gone too far with their interest rate rising cycle, with the official cash rate being 4.1 per cent at the time of writing.

Further, the RBA have indicated that even though the inflation rate is starting to fall, there may be more rate rises to come.

It is widely speculated that Australia and other developed economies will follow New Zealand and may go into recession.

Speculation is being fuelled by the US bond yield curve inverting.

An inverted yield curve is when short-term bond rates are higher than long term bond rates.

This is a leading indicator used by economists and investors to predict recession.

The likelihood of entering recession will become more apparent over the coming months, consequently we might see heightened levels of financial market volatility as the RBA releases economic information.

During recession, generally some assets classes do better than others.

Given this, and the current economic environment, it is wise to review your investments to ensure your money is invested appropriately for your situation and the uncertain economic challenges ahead.

When you are near, or in, retirement protecting your super balance becomes equally, if not more important than chasing high returns.

Understanding how your super is invested is crucial.

On average, most Australians are invested in default balanced investment funds which hold approximately 70 per cent of your money in growth assets (risky) and approximately 30 per cent in defensive assets (safer).

To some people this mix of growth and defensive might be too risky.

The more you have invested in growth assets, typically the more volatile your portfolio will be.

Equally important to reviewing your investments is having a plan to fund your income in retirement.

History shows that recessions have been short-lived, with the average life of a recession being one year or less.

In most cases, money inside super will be invested in assets that are subject to volatility and during times of economic slowdown some assets will fall in value.

If your super balance falls and you need to draw income from your super, it can impact your balance in the long-term.

This is because when your super fund sells assets to fund your regular income, it must sell down a larger portion of assets to fund the same amount of income.

This results in your balance reducing faster than expected over time.

The good news is that it is possible to mitigate this risk.

Over the next 12 months and beyond, it is important to ensure that your money is invested appropriately for you and future economic conditions.

Talk to your financial adviser today to ensure that your stage of life and financial goals are aligned with how your retirement savings are invested.

TARGA 2024

TARGA Tasmania said that they have been overwhelmed with the support, well wishes and crucial conversations happening amongst the Australian tarmac rally community.

Two weeks on from TARGA's announcements regarding the 2023 events and future of TARGA in 2024, the course for the 2024 TARGA Tasmania was released with five new stages included and the return of three from past routes.

There will be 37 stages in total covering just over 500 competitive kilometres.

Previous reconnaissance information has been combined with Version 1 of the road book to provide prospective entrants with a level of detail never provided this early before.

This will assist drivers and navigators to get more out of the course reconnaissance and better prepare for the event in April.

It will also provide TARGA with early feedback to fix errors, omissions and add detail to the road book.

2024 TARGA Tasmania will include five new stages and the return of three from past routes. (PS)

Pam and Tony Adams of Barretta recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. They met at Manchester University in 1960 and migrated to Australia in 1976 with their daughter, Natasha and settled in Taroona, moving to Barretta in 1996. Tony was a staff member in the Computing Science Department in the University of Tasmania until his retirement in 1996 and Pam taught geography at Fahan School for 18 years. They were lucky enough to live in Fiji and work at the University of the South Pacific from 1996 - 2000. The nearby small village exudes a welcoming atmosphere, where friendly faces and a close-knit community await.

Engage in local events held at Kettering Hall, watch the weekend cricket in season, savour delicious produce at Kettering is a fast car or walk-on ferry trip to Bruny Island which is renowned for its foods, pristine beaches, and national parks.

The Oyster Cove Marina has berthing for approximately 300 boats, a boatyard with hard stand facilities and multiple onsite trades.

Take a walk out to Kettering Point along the coastal walking track or pack a picnic and head further round the point to bewitching Trial Bay with its calm, shallow waters, great for beginners to learn kayaking or paddle boarding.

The area is only 35 minutes to Hobart, 20 minutes to major shops and services in Kingston and schools are within 10 minutes.

Goodsports National Club of the Year

Woodbridge Cricket Club (WCC) will return to competing at the highest level in the Huon and Channel Cricket Association (HCCA) when the upcoming season kicks off in October.

In the lead-up to the season, the club was very pleased to secure the services of Clayton Braddick as senior coach. Clayton brings a wealth of experience to the club after fulfilling various leadership roles at the University of Tasmania Cricket Club in recent years. The club has also recruited a number of quality players, including Englishman Jake Martin, for the upcoming season. This season will also see the unveiling of a new pitch as well the start of landscaping and other improvements at the club's home ground in Woodbridge. Together with its co-tenant, Woodbridge Football Club, WCC was successful in lobbying Kingborough Council for a major upgrade of the car parking facilities provided at the ground. Work on this upgrade will commence early in the new year. The club aims to build upon the success of last season where it won the HCCA Division 2 T20 competition and was named the Goodsports National Club of the Year in recognition of its work in enhancing the health and wellbeing of its members.

Ready Steady Go Kids

Ready Steady Go Kids is Australia's largest multi-sport program for one-and-a-half to six-year-olds.

In Term 1 of 2023, it was brought to Hobart with two locations running the term-based program: Moonah Sports Centre and the Cricket Hub Tasmania in Kingston.

The program teaches the fundamentals of 10 different sports in a progressive format whilst developing the gross and fine motor skills of children.

Within the classes, teachers facilitate the development of social skills and see children grow in confidence week to week.

Ready Steady Go Kids is offering a great opportunity to introduce your child to the program with a free trial to all new members.

To book your free trial, go to www.readysteadygo-kids.com.au

This program is based in science, developed by occupational therapists and paediatric physiotherapists.

There are four class options:

- Get Ready, one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half years old
- Ready, two-and-a-half to three years old
- Steady, three to four years old
- Go, four to six years old.

Each session is tailored to suit the development stage of the children.

Ready Steady Go Kids aligns with Australia's Early Years Learning Framework and helps to support a child as they build skills to prepare them for school.

Excursions for early learning centres and kindergartens are also available, and a program can be tailored to suit.

Ready Steady Go Kids also offer birthday parties, where children can choose up to two sports and games. Coaches are trained to support your child in their early multi-sport journey and provide a welcoming, encouraging and supportive environment.

Ready Steady Go Kids can be found on Facebook and Instagram.

Burn Theory is an all-inclusive health and fitness club which offers effective fitness methods. (PS)

Female fitness business launches in Kingston

The ever-growing Kingborough area has created a need for more diverse health and fitness offerings.

That's why local gal, Hannah McDonald, is ready to open BurnTheory in Kingston.

BurnTheory provides three effective fitness methods: boxing, barre and release/core, with each giving a results-driven workout.

But what sets BurnTheory apart is its focus on creating a fitness community where women from all walks of life can feel comfortable and supported to achieve their fitness goals.

BurnTheory is all about a real-world approach to exercise and movement; one that is holistic and honest.

The workouts have been created for long-term results, and the instructors can tailor each of the movements in classes to suit each individual on their fitness journey.

The real-world approach means women have a welcoming, inclusive and unique space for them and their wellbeing.

The new studio will be throwing its doors open on Saturday, September 9 for a public open day from 7:30am - 12pm offering free classes to women in Kingborough who are eager to build fitness and strength and would love to try boxing or barre for the first time.

BURNTHEORY KINGSTON

SERVICE OF THE WEEK

Tassie Tree Climbers is owned and operated by Shaun Norris and his wife Katie. Shaun is a Huon Valley local and has spent most of his life climbing trees.

What started as a hobby eventually turned into a bigger venture, with Shaun organising recreational tree climbs with fellow enthusiasts and volunteering his rigging services for parties and events.

After deciding to move on from his former wildlife keeping career, Shaun began working full time as a tree climber for a large Tasmanian company.

After several years of full time tree climbing and after starting a family of his own, Shaun took the plunge and started his own business.

Depending on the size of the job, Shaun works alongside a crew of fellow tree climbing enthusiasts. They assist with groundwork, chipping, rigging, as well as climbing.

All representatives of Tassie Tree Climbers are experienced, qualified, insured, and passionate about tree work!

Tassie tree climbers can attend your business or property to provide a free quote on jobs ranging from basic pruning through to large scale removals and generally complete jobs with a small ground crew to ensure safety, efficiency and professionalism

Waste can be removed from site if desired and are happy to assist with blocking felled trees for firewood. Chipping can also be arranged on site if required.

Kingborough Lions take on the Battle of Franklin

Kingborough Lions United Football Club and Clarence Zebras Football Club went head-to-head in Tasmania's first Battle of Franklin Cup event on Sunday, August 13.

The Clarence Zebras hosted the Lions at Wentworth Park in Howrah.

All proceeds on the day were donated to Prostate Cancer Foundation of Australia (PCFA).

Clarence Zebras spokesperson Gary Pitchford said the club enjoyed hosting Lions players and their supporters as both teams raised money for a good cause.

"Our club has had many members who have been affected by prostate cancer, either directly or have had family members who have fought this unfortunate disease, and this is a great opportunity for us as a club to show our support and aim towards increasing awareness to all our members and players," Mr Pitchford said.

PCFA merchandise was available for purchase along with hot food and drinks to help fund further research and continual care.

Prostate cancer survivors Rick Bennett and Andrei Norris volunteered at the event and praised the clubs for raising awareness of prostate cancer in the region.

The Lions dominated the game with a 5-2 victory.

The SFLW Division 1 Tigers played North Hobart on Saturday, August 12. The women were unable to maintain the winning streak of the men's earlier games against Launceston and lost to North Hobart 3.1.19 to 6.9.54. Pictured Marley Beaven with the ball. (PS Carolyn Whitehouse)
