14-year-old Tegan Dench from Blackmans Bay has come away from the World Dwarf Games with four gold medals (javelin, discus, backstroke and freestyle events) and three silver medals (shotput, swimming relay and women's basketball). (PS)

Blackmans Bay athlete's triumph

Blackmans Bay athlete Tegan Dench, 14, has returned from the World Dwarf Games in Germany a gold medalist.

Tegan won four gold medals (javelin, discus, backstroke and freestyle events) and three silver medals (shotput, swimming relay and women's basketball).

The Australian women's basketball team made it to the gold medal match for the first time ever, only losing one game to the Netherlands.

The men's basketball team came out with gold.

Parents Matt and Laetitia said seeing Tegan standing on the podium was the proudest moment for them all.

"Tegan has proven to herself that determination is worth its weight in gold," the parents said.

"She is now working her way up towards the next World Dwarf Games in 2027 and the 2032 Paralympics, with both events being held in Australia."

Local companies join defence expo

Huntingfield's Currawong Engineering and Kingston's Muir Engineering will be part of the Tasmanian delegation attending the Defence and Security Equipment International (DSEI) convention.

This is one of the largest security and defence expos in the world and will be held from September 12-15 in London.

"The DSEI convention will feature more than 2800 suppliers and buyers from around the world, giving Tasmanian businesses the chance to showcase their capabilities to leaders from military, government and industry," Premier Jeremy Rockliff said.

Currawong Engineering builds engines and power electronics for Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAVs) or drones, which have been used in military vehicles.

"DSEI is a great chance to network in person with our UK and international counterparts," Brant Patford from Currawong Engineering said.

"One of the main goals in attending DSEI, however, is in sharing the news of our new 'hybrid engine' technology; it's a fuel-based on-board engine which charges the UAVs batteries during flight, increasing flight-time from around 30 minutes to about two hours."

Muir Engineering design and manufacture anchor winches and anchoring systems.

International Sales Manager Stuart Mackley said Muir Engineering supplies their anchoring systems across the globe.

Their products are used from commercial ships to defence vessels, patrol boats and coast guard watercraft.

Mr Mackley said Muir Engineering are looking forward to using the expo to promote more of their products.

Line markings

Kingborough Council recently put forward a submission to the Department of State Growth for line markings on Redwood Road.

Director of Engineering Services David Reeve said "We hope to hear back from them very shortly as to whether that is successful or not".

"If it's not successful, it would be likely that Council will be line marking that out of our own budget, mainly because of the amount of complaints that we have had about that particular stretch of road."

There have also been discussions about line markings for the stretch of Maranoa Road in front of Calvin Christian School.

"We were actually lucky enough to get some black spot funding to do some work in that area," Mr Reeve said.

Mr Reeve anticipates construction on Maranoa Road will begin later this year.

Southern Cross underpayment

In August 2021, Southern Cross Care self-reported to the Fair Work Ombudsman it had failed to apply the correct overtime provisions and other entitlements dating back to 2015.

Southern Cross Care offers aged care services across Tasmania, including lifestyle villages in Taroona.

A subsequent independent review quantified the underpayments to be $6.8 million.

Acting Chair Judith Fishlock apologised for the underpayment.

"Since finalising the review, we have back-paid all current employees and as many former employees we were able to contact their full entitlements, including superannuation and interest," Ms Fishlock said.

Response to energy prices

Member for Franklin Dean Winter released a statement about Tasmania's rising energy costs recently.

"Peter and Patricia Harvey have been delivering emergency food relief to residents south of Hobart through Kingborough Community Missions (KCM) for almost a decade," MP Winter said.

"They are telling us they have never seen economic conditions like this.

"Over the last 12 months inflation has been the highest it's been in 35 years and electricity prices continue to skyrocket as a key component of that.

"The average household is now paying almost $500 per year more than they were for electricity before prices started skyrocketing."

Power prices have gone up for households by 22.5 per cent in the last two years.

Minister for Energy and Renewables Guy Barnett said that a price cap won't work and will cost jobs and kill renewable energy investment.

"The state government has landed a historic deal that is good for Tasmania, good for energy security, good for jobs, good for the economy and good for the environment," said MP Barnett.

"Our government is building Tasmania with an exciting renewables future."

Coastal hazards policy

Kingborough Council adopted a coastal hazards policy at the September 4 Council meeting.

Kingborough Deputy Mayor Clare Glade-Wright said Council was demonstrating strong environmental stewardship and leadership by adopting its first ever coastal hazards policy.

"Kingborough's extensive coastline is one of our municipality's greatest assets," Cr Glade-Wright said.

"Our coastal areas, however, are also subject to the ever-increasing threats from coastal hazards, where natural processes such as erosion and flooding are intensifying under a changing climate.

"As a public land manager, Council faces ongoing decisions surrounding coastal hazards and risk.

"The policy will provide for a decision-making framework for Council's approach, while also guiding best practice management of Council's assets in the coastal zone, which include roads, playgrounds, public buildings and protection structures such as seawalls and groynes.

"The intent of the policy is to achieve risk reduction and the protection, sustainable use, and enjoyment of coastal land under Council management.

"The policy introduces a range of adaptation management options while paving the way for local coastal management plans for those communities who are most vulnerable to the threats of coastal hazards.

"This policy will allow Council to continue working with coastal communities to better understand and plan the pathways to adapt to the impacts of coastal hazards at a local scale and enable all of us to proactively plan for the impacts of coastal hazards on Council assets," Cr Glade-Wright said.

Questions about Browns River bridge

At the Kingborough Council meeting on September 4, Mr Roger Tonge submitted a two-part question on notice. "Can Council provide one logical reason why the Browns River Bridge is to be demolished?" "Can Council please provide the reasons for the expenditure predicted to be in the vicinity of $750 thousand on the construction of a new bridge, when a perfectly good one currently exists?" Director of Engineering Services David Reeve said "As outlined in previous responses to similar questions on July 4, 2022, and August 21, 2023, condition is not always the only driver in replacing an asset, functionality and capacity are of equal importance". "The current commitment is to look at the options for replacing the structure with something more suitable for the needs of the users, in particular this will look at increasing the width of the bridge. "The funding of this as a construction project will depend on competing priorities in the future capital work deliberations of Council."

BRUNY ISLAND

Bruny Island community group making strides

Friends of Bruny Island Quarantine Station (FOBIQS) has opened the mortuary on site to guests.

What appeared for decades to be a brick skillion garage type structure with broken locked doors and flaking paint is now a centrepiece of the historical precinct.

Early significant building restoration by Tasmania Parks and Wildlife Service prepared the building and the input of at least 15 specialist donors have allowed the building to be opened to the public.

The weed plan has now been completed and activated.

FOBIQS president Rob Banfield expressed

thanks to Roz, Phil and Scott who form the core group of helpers on the weed eradication project.

"We are now confident that the weed plan is actioned and over the next few years significant weeds will be eradicated from our peninsula," said Mr Banfield.

The diary media project run by FOBIQS is now 75 percent complete.

These diaries provide valuable historical context and another way for people to engage with the site and includes the publication of Dear Mama, the journal of a WW1 German internee who spent time on Bruny Island.

Bury me naturally

Kingborough Council approved the use of section of the North West Bay Cemetery for natural burials at the recent Council meeting.

Deputy Mayor Clare Glade-Wright said having a section of the cemetery dedicated to environmentally friendly burials was what a lot of people were seeking.

"Natural burials involve burying the deceased in a way that promotes natural decomposition and minimises harm to the environment," Cr Glade-Wright said.

"Choosing a natural burial means that a person is buried without the use of chemicals and that any coffin, if used has to be free of plastic and be biodegradable.

There are a few councils in Tasmania that have natural burial cemeteries.

Burnie City Council was the first to allow this practice in 2016.

The Kingston Cemetery has a section in which burials are integrated into native bushland, with coffins made of untreated and unpainted timber.

Whilst this is a more environmentally sustainable option than a traditional burial, it does not meet all the criteria for a natural burial.

Graves for natural burials are dug to a depth of one metre to allow greater decomposition of the body by worms and soil bacteria, as opposed to a depth of 1.82m in a traditional grave.

"There has recently been an increase in community interest in wanting a natural burial in Kingborough, and this is partly prompted by our Community Services teams and the very informative sessions held about death and dying," Cr Glade-Wright said.

"Given the community interest for natural burials it is appropriate that Council provides a dedicated site to enable the practice, which we have now decided will be at North West Bay cemetery.

"Council is open to looking at our other cemeteries and whether they would be good sites for natural burials."

'Lydenne' a timeless historic seaside retreat

Discover a slice of history and serenity in this enchanting late Victorian/early Federation country residence.

This classic residence is nestled on a peaceful road with a commanding position that gently descends toward the tranquil shores of the D'Entrecasteaux Channel and the sheltered embrace of Simmonds Bay.

Constructed in 1890 by the renowned cruising yachtsman William Lindsay, this stately home embodies the architectural essence of its time.

Exuding classic charm, the dominant features of this residence include the quintessential bay and gable frontage, adorned with a picturesque bullnose veranda.

The allure is further heightened by the home's remarkable location with the stunning backdrop of Barnes Bay on Bruny Island.

The interior showcases a remarkable array of period features that harken back to its original glory.

The elegant hallway arches, the warmth of original hardwood floors, the character of Baltic pine lining, and the intricate fireplace surrounds collectively create an ambience of refined sophistication.

While the home's rich history is lovingly preserved the potential for rejuvenation and personalization is apparent.

A thoughtful touch would breathe new life into this grand residence, allowing its innate beauty to shine anew.

Boasting three large bedrooms, a generous central sitting room, and a versatile dining/family room, the layout of the house offers both space and intimacy.

The heart of the home is a country-style kitchen that beckons with its rustic charm and granite bench tops.

A separate office/sunroom provides additional space for reflection and creativity and a well-appointed bathroom, complete with spa bath and underfloor heating, adds a touch of luxury to everyday life.

The convenience of a separate laundry and three toilets enhances practicality, while a covered back veranda extends the living space outdoors.

An unexpected gem lies outside, a separate one-bedroom, fully self-contained cottage with lovely water views.

Opening the door to the potential for generating accommodation income (STCA), riding the wave of Bruny Island's burgeoning tourism industry.

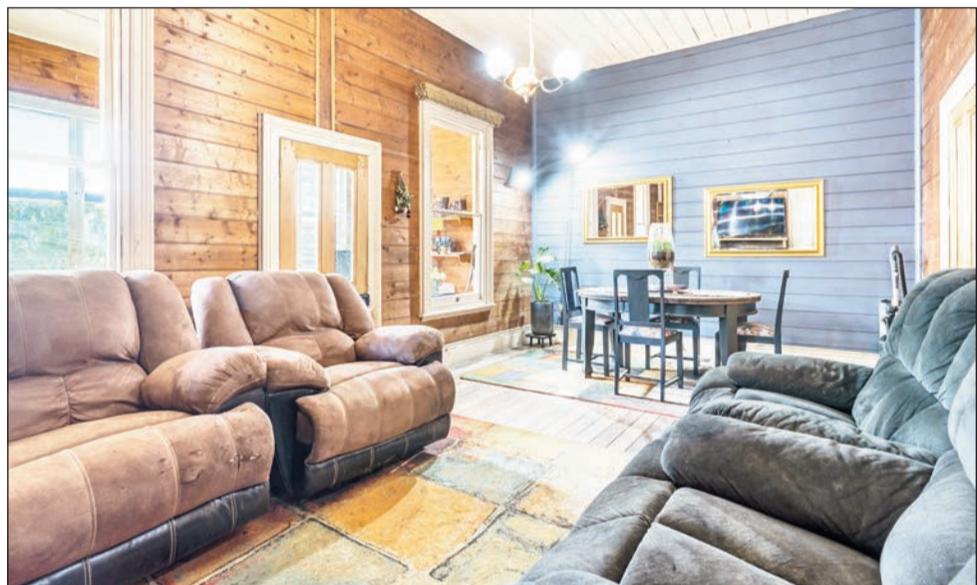

There is plenty of space to enjoy the garden, ample rain-water storage is supplied via three water tanks and there's the added convenience of two garden sheds.

This property has been woven into the tapestry of North Bruny's history with generations of the Denne family cherishing its legacy.

Once even hosting a restaurant, the residence has a storied past that adds to its allure.

With a mooring included, the stage is set for sailing adventures and making cherished memories against the breathtaking backdrop of the D'Entrecasteaux Channel at wonderful 'Lydenne' on stunning Bruny Island.

Less than a 10 minute drive from the ferry terminal.

Alice Toner's deep love and passion for music and arts comes from growing up in a family full of artists and arts workers.

Alice 'felt at home' within a creative environment, so it felt natural to follow this career path.

Alice went from being a muddy, but enchanted by 'Festival Life', child at Woodford and Byron Blues and Roots, to performing on stages as a musician herself and working within the entertainment industry from age 14.

Home base as a child for Alice was the East Coast of Tasmania, riding and training horses, alongside sailing and fishing and enjoying rural country life.

Alice moved to the Huon Valley in 2017 due to the strong creative culture.

Alice, 34, is the CEO, Founder and Creative Director of Way Down South Arts, a Huon Valley community social enterprise.

Social enterprises address issues and impacts, such as sustainability, support, empowerment and affordability within the arts community.

Alice has been managing highly successful and well attended music and arts events at The Franklin Palais, Cygnet Town Hall and other Huon Valley venues since 2017.

Alice is a member of the Cygnet Folk Festival Committee, The Arts and Culture Council Committee of the Huon Valley Council, is production manager of the Terror Australis Readers and Writers Festival and manages the main stage yearly at the Huon Valley Mid-Winter Festival.

All the work that Alice does in the Huon Valley community within the music and arts space is voluntary, to build a sustainable home for Tasmanian creatives.

"Way Down South Arts runs wonderful regular events that bring the local community together from near and far to witness the talent on offer and to connect socially." – Event Goer

"Workers so devoted to the common good of a community come along very rarely. Alice follows in the footsteps of the late Nonie Carr in this regard." – Steve Gadd

"A beautiful new era of live music and cultural development in the Huon Valley." – Kim Churchill

Breaking Barriers: Maddy McBride
 Leading the Way in Aquaculture

In a traditionally male-dominated industry, Fish Performance Manager Maddy McBride is a shining example of the women breaking gender stereotypes and excelling in her field.

Maddy's journey with Huon Aquaculture began in 2018 as a hatchery technician at their Forest Home and Lonnvale hatcheries, launching a remarkable journey that shattered biases and showcased her aquaculture expertise.

Dedication and hard work propelled Maddy through diverse roles, each offering unique industry insights. She gained hands-on expertise working on feed trials at Hideaway Bay, grasping small-scale farm intricacies. Her analytical skills from a bachelor's degree laid the foundation for her shift to larger-scale production.

Transitioning to Assistant Fish Performance Manager, Maddy not only learned the ropes of the role but also honed her leadership skills. Today, as the Fish Performance Manager of the Storm Bay region, Maddy's responsibilities encompass a wide array of tasks. From feed management to stock analysis, performance checks, and team leadership, Maddy plays a pivotal role in ensuring the fish under her care thrive.

Maddy's passion for her work shines through when asked about her role. "I love the variety of the role," she shares.

"Every day presents a new challenge, and I continue to learn and grow."

Her enthusiasm is infectious and reflects the dynamic nature of her position.

Maddy's Huon experience stems from the company's dedication to skill-building and collaboration. Supported by both female and male role models, she has thrived in a supportive environment. When asked about recommending a career at Huon to other women, Maddy doesn't hesitate. "Absolutely! The opportunities are vast – whether on the water, in hatcheries, processing, or the corporate side. Huon offers a chance to learn, grow, and contribute to sustainable food sources."

Looking to the future, Maddy's commitment to the industry, her role, and Huon's mission is unwavering. Maddy McBride stands as a beacon of inspiration, proving that dedication, skill, and passion know no gender boundaries in the world of aquaculture.

Georgie Roland Grand Hotel, Huonville

Georgie grew up in Mountain River under Sleeping Beauty. Her father had a local saw mill and her mother used to do seasonal work around the valley. She has two children whom are both adults with children of their own. Georgie has worked extensively in the hospitality industry for nearly 30 years. She came to the Grand 10 years ago to stay current whilst teaching hospitality at TAFE.

"I was only there a short time and became the bar manager, and I held that position for several years until the lease was sold, when I became a member of the staff," said Georgie.

"I was then reappointed as manager of the hotel, a position which I held for 18 months, then the opportunity came up for my husband Geoff and I to purchase the lease in December of 2019.

"So, with all of the experience I have had between the Grand Hotel, Huonville and the Old Beachside Hotel at Kingston Beach, it was decided that we would buy the lease."

Georgie has spent a number of years working in hospitality and putting a lot of effort into furthering her education, for just such an occasion.

"I love the grand 'Old Lady' and our community, we sponsor different local sporting groups, donate to local schools, charities and fundraisers as much as we possibly can. "We enjoy giving back to our community where we can," concluded Georgie.

Kingston Primary School prepares for musical

There is magic and music in the air at Kingston Primary School as rehearsals get into full swing for the school's production of the musical Aladdin.

The musical features a core cast of about 40 students but every student in the school will perform when their year group comes on stage to perform a song.

Music and Performing Arts teacher Steve Jones said auditions started at the beginning of the year, with weekly rehearsals since.

"It is wonderful for children to have the opportunity to get up and perform," Mr Jones said.

"I've watched it build resilience and strength even in those who were reluctant at the start.

"Children just love to be part of something and that is the power of music."

Principal Ange Crane invited the community to "Come with us on a magical journey with our school's production of Aladdin".

"This captivating show will not only showcase our students' talents but will unite our entire community in a shared experience of wonder and imagination," she said.

Aladdin will be performed at Hobart College theatre on Monday, December 11.

Primary care funding support

Tasmanians experiencing or at risk of experiencing homelessness will now have access to more after-hours health care after two health providers received grants under the state government's GP After Hours Initiative.

The $8 million initiative aims to strengthen community-based services, with previous funding rounds enabling general practices and pharmacies to deliver urgent care and reduce pressure on our hospitals.

"The round four grants of up to $250,000 were targeted towards supporting vulnerable Tasmanians who may find it particularly difficult to access a GP," Minister for Health Guy Barnett said.

The successful recipients are Launceston City Mission who will expand its Mission Health Service and Moreton Group Medical Services who will build on its successful after-hours, nurse practitioner or GP-led mobile clinic model.

Morton Group Medical Services already provides support to Jireh House in Kingborough.

"The GP After Hours Initiative is part of our commitment to providing all Tasmanians with the right care, in the right place, at the right time," Minister Barnett said.

"These programs will expand access to primary care services in the communities in which people live, providing patients with safe and accessible care, while helping reduce demand on our public hospitals."

The Senior Tigers have booked their ticket to another grand final after defeating North Launceston on Saturday, September 9. The Tigers win has earned them the right to go straight into the grand final at North Hobart Oval in two weeks. The Tigers had a good start and were 15 to seven at the end of the first quarter. The Northern Bombers retaliated with 21 to Tigers 17 by half time. The Bombers fell apart in the third quarter, with the Tigers kicking eight goals, increasing their score to 68 and the Bombers failed to score. Whilst the Bombers rallied a comeback in the final quarter it was too late, with the final score Tigers 10.11.71 to Bombers 5.5.35. Along with scoring three goals, James Zeitzen took some fantastic marks. (PS Carolyn Whitehouse)

Come and try blind and low vision sports

Inclusive Innovations Tasmania (IIT) recently held the first blind and low vision (BLV) AFL and soccer come and try day at the Kingborough Sports Centre (KSC).

It was also a chance for some of Blind Cricket Tasmania 'Tigers' state representative players to experience new sports as part of some cross-training exercises.

The game's styles have some slight adaptations to the normal rules to allow BLV people to play, either in a social context or at competition level against other teams.

The major difference is the audio ball, which for soccer has a bell in it and the AFL ball has a constant buzzer sound, so players can pick up the placement and speed of the ball as they play.

Joe Arnold from AFL Tasmania's community participation team coached the participants on the basics of kicking, handball and team interaction.

Many of the participants had never had the opportunity to learn in a group and supported environment before.

IIT has a partnership with AFL Tasmania to expand the access to BLV AFL in the state, with Kingborough Council and the KSC continuing to support future sessions in the area too.

The next session at KSC is on Sunday, October 15.

AFL Tasmania's community participation team member Joe Arnold coached participants on the basics of blind and low vision (BLV) AFL. (PS)

The U18 Tigers played North Hobart in the STJFL elimination final at Twin Ovals. The Tigers managed to match the score in the final quarter with both on 33 before North Hobart fought back to win 7.3.45 to the Tigers 4.11.35. Harry Brereton about to make a kick. (PS Carolyn Whitehouse)

On Sunday, September 10 the Tigers faced the ladder leaders North Hobart Demons at North Hobart Oval in the SFLW Division 1 grand final. This is the first time the SFLW Tigers have made it to the grand finals. It was also Mikayla Absolom's 100th game with the Tigers. The Tigers were missing some very important players out with injuries, including Stacey Fox who was the highest goal scorer in the competition. Despite these setbacks, the Tigers were very competitive with less than a goal's difference in the final quarter. Unfortunately, the Demons managed to score a goal. The final score was Tigers 3.5.23 to Demons 5.3.33. Mikayla with the ball. (PS Carolyn Whitehouse)
