Salmon donation for Easter lunch

The Salvation Army Kingborough brought some Easter joy with help from Kingborough Helping Hands and Huon, who supplied salmon to the Salvation Army's Thursday, March 28 lunch service.

The Salvation Army open their doors at 3 Opal Drive, Blackmans Bay every Thursday for a meal served at midday.

"Huon's donation of salmon portions to our outreach program helps us offer hope and a better direction for those who call on our services during the week," said Salvation Army Officer for the Kingborough and Huon area Roz Edwards.

"We're grateful to make sure people can enjoy a traditional fish meal." Edna Pennicott from Kingborough Helping Hands agreed, saying

"It's wonderful to be able to donate foods that are a little bit special, and salmon is a lovely gift for families during these holiday periods".

Huon donated over 300 kilograms of salmon to 10 different charities over the Easter weekend, including the Salvation Army and Kingborough Helping Hands.

Winter tipped Labor leader

On Tuesday, March 26 Rebecca White announced that she would step down from the leadership of the Tasmanian Labor Party, leaving a vacancy that many anticipate former Kingborough Mayor Dean Winter will fill.

Member for Franklin Dean Winter said that there is no one who has worked harder, been tougher or put more into the Tasmanian Labor Party than Rebecca White.

"Rebecca is relentless," he said.

"The thing that sets her apart from anyone I've ever worked with is her work ethic.

"She never stops working and never gives up.

"She inspired us and led us incredibly well - especially coming out of a really tough 2021.

"Whether people voted for her or not, everyone should respect the way she has worked for our state."

Rebecca White thanked her family, colleagues, staff and the members of the Tasmanian Labor Party for their support.

"It has been an enormous privilege to hold this position and I am grateful for the support of my colleagues and our broader membership for so many years," she said.

"I am proud of the campaign we ran this election and the work so many across our movement put in to try and deliver a change of government.

"Unfortunately we fell short and as leader I take responsibility.

"It is time for a new leader to take on the opportunity of guiding our great party with the ambition to form government at the next election."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Don't be a passive bystander

Dear Editor,
So you have visited some fabulous wild areas in Tasmania.
Good for you!
Please remember it is not enough to just go out and visit the amazing wilderness.
It is not enough to experience an incredible place and wonder at how lucky you are to visit it and enjoy it.
To see it and acknowledge its beauty and existence is more than just a privileged holiday - it is an urgent invitation to ensure its protection.
An extraordinary, untouched wilderness is only there because somebody fought to ensure its protection.
When you go and enjoy a beautiful environment, you must act to protect these places because many are destined to be destroyed.
They need protecting now and we need bodies to fight to protect them.

We need an entire army of protectors.
So please do not just visit and observe, as this serves nobody but yourself.
You are participating in the demise of these wonderful places if you do nothing but enjoy yourself and take photos.
You are complicit in the destruction of these places if you return home to your normal life and plan your next trip without direct action for Earth.
So please when you go home and dine out on your stories of intrepid expeditions, please spare some time, energy and money to support the people who are fighting to protect the wild places that are left.
Because our wild places are diminishing fast, and you must help protect them.

Cull the gulls

Dear Editor,
How much longer do the ratepayers of Kingborough have to put up with the influx of seagulls migrating to Blackmans Bay Beach?
This has been happening since the closure of the Margate tip, and more and more are encroaching on the beach (some days more, some less.)
On March 26, they were packed from the boat shed (southern end) up to the Beach Restaurant.
I complained to Kingborough Council years ago, but nothing was done.
If these pests can be culled from the Domain area, why can't Kingborough Council get permission to do the same?

StoryWalk launch at Dru Point

Libraries Tasmania hosted a StoryWalk launch as part of Tasmania Reads celebrations in March.

Kingston Library Manager Tim Steel said StoryWalks are fun and educational activities.

"Families are able to engage with both reading and nature while experiencing an unfolding story along a popular walking route in the community," he said.

The StoryWalk at Dru Point, Margate has added a new story We Love Country written by Aboriginal authors Leanne Pelikan (née Briggs), Kylie Dickson and Nicole Smith.

The illustrators are well-known Tasmania artists Luke Emmerton and Jamin.

This book invites the reader to share and connect with Country by joining Nanna as she shares this story with her grandchildren and encourages them to explore their senses.

This book is the fourth to be installed in this beautiful location and is part of the Kingborough StoryWalk trail. Over 250 people attended the launch, including students from local primary and secondary schools.

They were joined by many community members and Libraries Tasmania staff.

Attendees were welcomed to Country by Amanda Pearn from the South East Tasmania Aboriginal Corporation (SETAC) and then heard from the authors about the project before taking a walk along the StoryWalk trail.

Margie Kirk's book Travelling Tasmanian Tigers is open to the public as a StoryWalk at the Snug Beach Rivulet Track.

The Kingston Wetlands will soon have a book along its pathways and a fourth location to be announced.

The launch was part of the state-wide Tasmania Reads event that celebrated the joy and importance of reading.

The We Love Country StoryWalk was launched in March as part of Tasmania Reads Week. Illustrator Luke Emmerton and authors Nicole Smith, Leanne Pelikan (née Briggs) and Kylie Dickson attended to give the first tour of the StoryWalk. (PS)

Amanda Pearn from the South East Tasmanian Aboriginal Corporation (SETAC) gave a Welcome to Country for the attendees. (PS)

Meriem for LiFE

Relationships Australia Tasmania recently announced the 2024 Tasmanian LiFE Awards winners, with Kingston's Meriem Daoui receiving the SPEAK UP! Stay ChatTY Outstanding Contribution by a Young Person LiFE Award.

At just 23 years of age, Meriem is a deeply committed advocate for suicide prevention and mental health awareness.

Her personal journey, marked by battles with depression and eating disorders, fuels her passion for supporting others facing similar struggles.

Meriem, a marathon runner and oncology nurse now studying medicine, shares her inspiring story of overcoming adversity, including moving to Tasmania, wearing the hijab and enduring bullying.

Her values of compassion and resilience drive her mission to reduce mental health stigma through open conversations.

Chair of the Tasmanian Suicide Prevention Community Network Dr Michael Kelly said the LiFE Awards celebrate the passion and commitment to suicide prevention that is displayed by Tasmanians across the state.

"This year marked the 19th year of the Tasmanian LiFE Awards and saw an impressive 30 nominations across the five categories, setting a record high," Dr Kelly said.

"The event brought together community members and service providers as a platform to acknowledge and celebrate the impactful and life-affirming initiatives undertaken by individuals and organisations."

Council budget consultation

Kingborough Council will release its Draft 2024-25 Budget for community consultation on Wednesday, April 3.

For this financial year, Kingborough Council is looking at an operating loss of $2.3 million, as well as a draft operating loss of $2.9 million in the following financial year.

Kingborough Council is proposing a 12 per cent increase in rates which for the average residential ratepayer is $232 per annum or approximately $4.50 per week (based on a home worth $650,000).

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said the council faces challenges with the rising costs of maintaining and building infrastructure projects.

"Council has been spending money on many community assets across the municipality with roads, stormwater and sport and recreational facilities being upgraded," Cr Wriedt said.

"This is to ensure that our community is supported as it continues to grow in size and to manage increasing expectations for higher levels of service."

The rising costs of building and maintaining community assets have had a significant effect on the Kingborough Council's budget.

"Councillors have carefully considered our financial position and have looked at all possible solutions and have unanimously agreed that this is the only responsible way forward," Cr Wriedt said.

"Just as it would be for any business, these losses are unsustainable and it is our responsibility now to make sure our council is financially stable for the future.

"Increasing rates will mean that we can adequately maintain and eventually replace our community assets worth more than $850 million."

Kingborough Council assets include road infrastructure, footpaths, stormwater systems and facilities like the Kingborough Sports Precinct and Kingston Park.

"We must make sure that Council has the necessary money to carry out this work," Cr Wriedt said.

To view the budget documents visit the council website engagement section.

The consultation will remain open until May 1.

Kingston platypus raises awareness

A platypus recently found in the section of Whitewater Creek above the Kingston Stormwater Wetlands tragically had to be euthanised because of rubbish around her body.

Kingborough Mayor Paula Wriedt said unfortunately this was the second incident that Council had been made aware of, in which a platypus was injured due to rubbish in the river system.

"This ill-fated event has prompted Council to continue to raise community awareness around how our stormwater systems work, highlight actions we all can take to prevent pollution in our creeks or rivers and draw attention to the important message Only Rain in Drains," Cr Wriedt said.

"Stormwater is the water that runs off surfaces such as pavements, roads, roofs, gardens, parks, car parks, construction sites and more during rainfall.

"As stormwater water flows, it collects pollutants and rubbish and washes them into our stormwater systems which then flow into our waterways.

"When people put unwanted liquids, wastes and materials down stormwater drains or on the roads, it can end up in our stormwater systems and then on our beaches and waterways.

"This is an issue for not only humans, but also for aquatic animals.

"Stopping rubbish and debris getting into the stormwater system is the most effective way to reduce these tragic events from happening.

"One way Council aims to protect our waterways is through installing gross pollutant traps.

"Gross pollutant traps are large tanks that trap rubbish, sediment and chemicals and stop them from entering the rivulet systems.

"Council has recently upgraded the Kingston Wetlands system by installing a gross pollutant trap to collect the rubbish from the Kingston CBD and Kingston Park area.

"Other areas where treatment of stormwater occurs are small residential rain gardens which you can see in Spring Farm and Whitewater estates.

"As the stormwater system is extensive, not all water that passes through the system flows through a trap.

"So, it is very important that rubbish does not end up on our streets.

"Our community can help to reduce rubbish ending up on the street by using bin straps on their kerbside collection bins.

"These straps are designed to prevent the bin lid opening by keeping the lid closed should the whole bin blow over and can be found and ordered online.

"Another way to help protect wildlife is Snip Rings for Wildlife.

"This campaign encourages people to snip their ring-shaped rubbish items such as plastic rings around milk bottles, rubber bands, hair ties, loops of facemasks and plastic dome-shaped drink lids before throwing them out.

"It is important that everyone understands that whatever gets washed down Kingborough's stormwater drains ends up in our waterways and beaches.

"The native wildlife in our wetlands are extremely important for the biodiversity of our natural areas.

"Let's work together to keep them safe and our beaches pristine.

"Residents who are also interested in building up knowledge about local platypus can take part in the platy-project."

The platy-project is helping researchers understand more about the platypus and how we can better protect it at <https://platy-project.acf.org.au/>

Whitewater Creek Shared Use Track has been extended into Spring Farm and Whitewater Estate. The expansion will connect over 600 homes. Kingborough Councillor David Bain and locals Dianne Imms and Rebecca Wilkie are regular track users. (PS)

Sections of pathways have been built to connect the Sports Precinct to O'Connor and Corlacus Drives. These pathways will link to Whitewater Creek Track at a later stage with further works scheduled to build a bridge and connecting pathway. (PS)

Harmony Week at Kingston Library

Kingston Library ran Cultural Quick Connect and Multicultural Storytime as part of their Harmony Week celebrations recently.

Kingborough's diverse cultures were celebrated with noise, laughter and energy as storytellers from Japan, South Korea, Iran, France, Italy, Chile, Peru and the Netherlands came together to participate in the new Cultural Quick Connect program.

Cultural Quick Connect saw participants chat with someone from a different country, teach a bit of their language and share stories about their life and culture.

Every five minutes participant moved to a new person, like a speed dating event.

Literacy Coordinator at Kingston Library Deborah Stroh-Reilly said they wanted this event to bring people together and celebrate what makes us all unique.

"Across the event, we saw people engage with language and stories and even shared colourful traditional items from their country," she said.

One participant said that they weren't sure what to expect but the Cultural Quick Connect event was amazing and they were glad they decided to come.

Children also gathered for a special multicultural storytime.

Bi-lingual staff read and shared stories in Spanish, Italian and Dutch.

I'm Stuck by Julia Mills is a story of a sweet little turtle who is reminded of the importance of good friends, in both English and Italian.

Through these stories, children learned about how we express emotions in different languages.

During Harmony Week at the end of March, Kingston Library hosted a Cultural Quick Connect event. Participants from different cultural and linguistic backgrounds spent short sessions together learning about language, culture and the lives of their fellow participants. (PS)

Library staff said that the event was designed to bring people from diverse backgrounds together. (PS)

Participants in Quick Connect came from places as far apart as Japan, Iran, Italy, Peru and the Netherlands. (PS)

The ages of participants varied widely. (PS)

Westerway Hall hosts large family reunion

The Browning, Hanlon, Ransley and associated families met in March for a family reunion at the Westerway Hall.

The families are spread across Tasmania, including the Kingborough region.

It was a perfect, relaxed day with plenty of sunshine and warmth.

There was an opportunity to study family trees with their offshoots and look at a range of printed publications and research documents.

There were outside activities that kept the younger family members entertained, while a shared lunch encouraged people to sit and talk.

A visitor book was used to record the 70 or so participants, along with the names of their immediate predecessors.

Photos were taken throughout the day to keep a visual record of a successful event.

Approximately 70 people attended the March reunion of the Browning, Hanlon, Ransley and associated families at Westerway Hall. (PS)

The Tramway Hill Landcare Group reports that Nierinna Creek was completely dry in March when members went to weed the reserve. This bend in Nierinna Creek is towards the eastern side of the reserve and usually the deepest stretch. (PS)

Landcare group active at Nierinna Creek Reserve

The Tramway Hill Landcare Group spent five man-hours in warm weather at Nierinna Creek Reserve in March.

Volunteer Roz Thurn said that the ground was very dry. "There was no water in the creek to be seen, and the dam is the lowest we have ever noticed," she said.

"There was a pair of black swans, one grey goose and approximately 12 native ducks and hens on the reserve. "One dead paddymelon near the dam and the skeletal frame of another small animal near the entrance of the reserve."

The group weeded umbrella sedge from the entrance of the reserve and a few scotch thistle rosettes.

Juvenile Spanish heath was removed from the northern and western sides, and blackberry from around the dam.

The group has plans to weed Nierinna Creek Reserve, Davis Flat, Brinks Link and Tramway Hill during their next working bees.

Volunteers could find no sign of water in the creek. (PS)

Volunteer Dave Reynolds investigated the lower water levels on the western side of the dam. Volunteer Roz Thurn said this was the lowest water level the group had ever noticed in the dam. (PS)

Opportunity awaits

Sitting in an elevated position on approximately 3.2 hectares with views over Storm Bay, Iron Pot and through to the Tasman Peninsula, this 1960s weatherboard home exudes the character and charm of a mountain cottage.

It presents an exceptional opportunity for further renovations to add value or for those looking to move in and enjoy low-maintenance living at an attractive entry price point.

The original cottage promotes immediate comfort while offering the chance to tap into its unrealised potential.

Quaintly presented, the home has a welcoming feel as you enter through the front door.

One is immediately drawn to the original Tas Oak floorboards that blend so well with the floating floor in the kitchen, carpets in the bedrooms and tiles in the bathroom.

The open kitchen lounge and dining are warm and inviting with a reverse cycle air conditioning unit ensuring that an even temperature can also be spread throughout no matter the change in season.

All bedrooms are generously sized, and there is a separate study or single-sized fourth bedroom, all central to the family bathroom.

There are pleasant views across the rear garden from the kitchen, which boasts plenty of cabinetry and bench space.
